Ghana Army Overthrows Government

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Led by a colonel, the army revolted today and overthrew the Kwame Nkrumah government. It declared him ousted from the presidency.

The self-styled redeemer, designated president for life after Ghana won its independence, was en route to North Viet Nam as the army moved in. Peking Radio said he was being honored at a dinner in the Chinese capital. It reported no reaction to the coup.

What effect the army takeover will have on Ghanaian foreign policy was not clear. Nkrumah frequently supported the Communist line in world affairs, but also accepted Western aid in developing Ghana's aluminum resources.

(Reports reaching Dakar said violent fighting was taking place around the presidential palace and that Nkrumah's personal guard has refused to lay down its arms as demanded.)

The predawn coup led by elements of the second brigade was announced by Radio Ghana.

Fighting between troops and president's security guards was continuing four hours later in Nkrumah's Flagstaff House residence. Small-arms fire could be heard and smoke from burning vehicles and buildings could be seen from outside the walled compound which houses all Ghana government executive offices.

The radio broadcast a warning from an unidentified voice that "all ranks of security service must lay down their arms now and surrender before 11:30. Otherwise we will attack their residences."

The coup leader was identified by the radio as Col. E. K. Kotoka, 40, commander of the second brigade based in the northern city of Kumasi. It has been holding maneuvers near Accra lately.

There was no news of army commander Maj. Charles Barwah. Barwah was given the top army post last July by Nkrumah and reports circulated at that time that the move was designed to head off an army rebellion.

Roads leading to ministers' mansions were sealed and shooting was heard near the home of Defense Minister Kofi Baako.

Troops guarded the post office, cable station and ministry buildings. All phone and cable service was cut.

No 'Mindless Escalation'

Johnson Claims Tide Has Turned

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson, pledging no "mindless escalation" of the war in Viet Nam, says "the tide of battle has been turned there."

Johnson, in a national television-radio address from a hotel ballroom here, said Wednesday night the United States fights in Viet Nam for a limited objective —"to prevent the success of aggression"—and is using the minimum necessary force "under what I believe is careful control."

The war, he said, never will be expanded into a direct conflict with Communist China "by any act of ours—and not if there is any reason left behind the wild words from Peiping."

Reflecting some of the optimism that has seemed evident among top Washington officials in recent weeks, Johnson said flatly the tide of battle has been turned. While he did not elaborate, he apparently based the statement on reports of mouting Communist casualties and defections.

Johnson's address in accepting the annual national Freedom Award of Freedom Housee, a nonpartisan organization, represented a reply to critics of his Viet Nam policy.

And even as he began to speak, the voice of dissent was heard.

A young man in the formally attired audience rose at the back of the ballroom and shouted, "Mr. President, peace in Viet Nam."

Secret Service agents and police hustled him out. Identified as James Peck of the War Resisters League, he had paid $25 for a dinner ticket and, before his outburst, had doffed his tie and tux jacket and unbuttoned his shirt to expose a tee shirt emblazoned "Peace in Viet Nam."

Peck was charged with resisting arrest and disrupting a lawful meeting. Bond was set at $3,000.

Almost simultaneously, sirens were heard inside the ballroom as a minor fire broke out along New York Central Railroad tracks under the hotel—the Waldorf-Astoria.

And outside, some 3,500 antiwar pickets marched—well beyond Johnson's view at all times —chanting "LBJ, how many children did you kill today?" and "Burn draft cards, not children."

Freedom To Act Impaired

Johnson Critics On Viet Seen Debated To 'Tie'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's latest report to the nation on his Vietnamese war policy strongly indicates that he feels his critics in Congress have debated their conflicting views to a standoff without impairing his freedom to act as he deems necessary.

This view of the outcome of the great debate, which is now temporarily subsiding, is, in fact, widely held among Johnson's advisers.

They believe, as presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy suggested Wednesday, that the hawks and the doves have been arguing chiefly with each other, leaving Johnson full scope to carry on the limited war against Communist conquest.

In a talk at the National Press Club here Bundy said it appears that among Congress members the discontent is more "with other sectors of the Congress, in real terms, than with the policies of the administration."

The view is debatable. Doubtless both "doves" and "hawks" in Congress — those who urge some quick way be found to end the war and those who favor stepped-up military action — disagree with it. Both sides have primarily attacked the administration rather than each other. Yet Johnson's view of the outcome of the argument is of critical importance; he is the executive with the power of decision and action.

Johnson's speech in New York Wednesday night emphasized repeated assurances that he does not intend to escalate the war and does not believe a wider war is inevitable. Having studied the debate of the last several weeks, he appeared to have decided that the major question posed for his comment lay in expressed fears that the Vietnamese conflict might lead to war with China and perhaps even nuclear war with the Soviet Union.

"Our measured use of force must be continued," he said. "But this is prudent firmness under careful control. There is not and there will not be, a mindless escalation . . . We are using that force, and only that force, necessary to stop the aggression."

The policy Johnson set forth is the same policy he has been enunciating for months. It showed no basic change under the impact of congressional criticism.

Americans Repel Viet Cong Attack

Infantry Division Kills 89, Wounds 11 During Assault

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Viet Cong battalion lahed across a minefield early today and attacked elements of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division in one of the heaviest Communist assaults against the GIs.

The Americans beat off the attackers with a barrage of mortar and artillery fire, killing at least 89 Reds and wounding 11, according to reports from the scene. U.S. casualties overall were described as light but some small units took moderate losses.

The 3½-hour battle took place near Tan Binh in the jungles 30 miles north of Saigon, where thousands of infantrymen on Operation Mastiff have been looking for several hard-core Viet Cong regiments since Monday.

A U.S. Marine company battled another Viet Cong battalion equipped with automatic weapon outside Ky My, a village near Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon. With armed helicopters backing them up, the Leathernecks killed 25 Communists and put the rest to flight, a Marine spokesman said.

Down the coast, a Marine patrol spotted 20 Viet Cong near Chu Lai and called in howitzers to fire on them. The Marines spotted only six fleeing the scene and presumed the rest were either killed or wounded.

Despite heavy rain, American jets hit North Viet Nam again Wednesday, using radar in some cases to get on target, spokesmen reported. Navy carrier planes flew six missions at altitudes of 500 to 2,000 feet, pounding a highway 36 miles southwest of Vinh and a river ford 30 miles northwest of Donghoi, both in the North Vietnamese Panhandle.

Air Force fighter-bombers again ranged over Dien Bien Phu, the old French fortress near the Laotian frontier, striking barracks, other buildings and the approaches to a highway bridge.

Small Viet Cong forces attacked two government outposts in the early morning darkness outside Quang Ngai City in a burst of guerrilla activity 30 miles north of the big U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division-Marine offensive on the central coast.

Thirty South Vietnamese militiamen withdrew without taking any casualties when the Viet Cong descended before dawn on their outpost 18 miles southwest of the provincial capital. A Communist company simultaneously blistered a nearby government outpost with 57mm recoilless rifle fire, but details of the fight were not complete.

Van Dyne Takes Oath For Fire Chief's Post

Alfred R. Van Dyne, who scored the top grade in a Civil Service Commission test Monday night, was sworn in Wednesday afternoon as East Liverpool's new fire chief by Mayor George E. Willshaw in a brief ceremony at City Hall.

Van Dyne fills the $540-a-month post left vacant with the death of Chief Charles Bryan on Jan. 10. He has been a member of the fire department nearly 26 years and had been as assistant chief since Jan. 1, 1958.

The mayor administered the oath after the Civil Service Commission certified the result of its competitive examination, in which Asst. Chiefs James Pelley and Gerald Goodballet also competed.

Shows Optimism For Winning War In Viet Nam

Humphrey Voices Sharp Concern Over Red China's Threat To Asia

What is Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's sharpened concern and on what factors does he base his optimism about the future of Viet Nam? Fred S. Hoffman, AP military affairs writer who covered the vice president's nine-nation tour, covers these points in this report and tells how oreign leaders reacted to Humphrey.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has returned from his Asian-Pacific mission with growing optimism about prospects for winning ultimately in Viet Nam.

But at the same time, he came away from his nine-nation tour with sharpened concern over the threat posed by Red China all across Southeast Asia, South Asia and throughout the Western Pacific region.

Humphrey might be expected to speak confidently in public. But he expresses guarded optimism in private as well.

Asked to cite specific reasons, he acknowledges it is more a feeling than anything that can be documented.

This feeling set in after conversations with U.S. military and civilian officials at various levels in Viet Nam, from admittedly kaleidoscopic on-the-spot observations, and from hard talks with Viet Nam's leaders, chiefly Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky.

The vice president, it is known, set out for Viet Nam not knowing what he would find — even though he had had the benefit of regular U.S. briefings and had been current on intelligence reports and evaluations.

His intensified apprehension about Red China grew out of a series of cards-on-the-table discussions with government chiefs, particularly those of Thailand, Laos, India, Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines.

In a way, the trip was an ed-

Two Groups Given Facts About Tour

Committees From Both Houses Hear Of War Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, seizing the chance to pour some Texas oil on troubled congressional seas, brought partisans of the Viet Nam debate together today to hear from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, just back from his whirlwind trip to Asia.

First on the scene at the White House were congressional leaders from both parties who met with Humphrey and top administration advisers. The White House said Humphrey briefed that group and answered questions.

Then members of the Foreign Affairs, Armed Services and Appropriations committees from both Houses came in. Johnson opened the second round with a talk. Then Humphrey began his second report.

Humphrey and what Johnson described as his "mission of peace" to nine countries has also been pulled into the debate with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee seeking to question the vice president about the commitments he made, specifically in foreign aid.

Thus Humphrey, who returned Wednesday night, barely had time to shake the dust of the Orient from his shoes before stepping back into the center of things with his briefing of congressional leaders and Congress members most deeply involved in Viet Nam legislation.

From them have come the most vocal of the hawks and doves in the argument over whether the United States is doing too much or too little in Viet Nam.

Johnson sought to ease worries of some of the doves Wednesday night when he declared in a New York speech that the United States is not caught up "in a blind escalation of force" inching toward a broader war.

Addressing a Freedom House dinner at which he received the group's annual National Freedom Award, Johnson said, "Our measured use of force must be continued. But this is prudent firmness under careful control. There is not, and there will not be, a mindless escalation."

Johnson's speech brought a cautious note of gratification from Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., a member of the Foreign Relations Committee whose hearings on Viet Nam have been the storm center of the debate.

Investigation Launched In Fatal Blast

DUNBAR, Pa. (AP) — Authorities probed today for the cause of an explosion that "happened in the turn of an eyelash" at a fireworks manufacturing works, killing five women workers and injuring eight others.

"I don't have any idea what caused it," said Harry Lizza, a son of the co-owner of the Keystone Fireworks Manufacturing Co., about 10 miles north of Uniontown.

Lizza speculated shortly after the explosion Wednesday that friction in the building where the dead women were handling flash powder for roman candles might have triggered the blast, which knocked flower pots from a window sill one-quarter mile away.

Killed were Mrs. Louis Ross, Mrs. Willie Tonia and Mrs. Freda Bezilla, 47, all of Dunbar; Laverne McNatt of Mount Braddock; and Anna Mae Widener of Connellsville.

Federal Grant Sought

Midland Launches Plans To Obtain Reservoir Aid

Steps were discussed for obtaining a federal grant to help subsidize the construction of a 1½-million - gallon steel reservoir in a proposed expansion of borough water service during Wednesday night's meeting of Midland Council.

Also directed at residents was a new warning by Mayor Eli G. Corak that Pennsylvania health authorities may order closing of the borough dump unless the practice of mixing garbage and trash is discontinued.

A REPRESENTATIVE of Michael Baker Jr., Inc., borough engineer, presented the request from the Water Authority for Council's support in action aimed at obtaining federal assistance in the reservoir program.

If the proposed grant eventually is approved, the reservoir would be constructed adjacent to the present half - million-gallon facility at the top of the 8th St. hill. The grant also would cover part of the cost of adding water mains to service the western part of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., the engineer reported.

Council endorsed the proposal at the request of Mayor Corak, who emphasized the need for an expanded water supply. "Last year, when a water main broke at Crucible, we held tight and prayed that a fire wouldn't break out in Midland because of the lack of a proper supply," he pointed out.

"The Water Department also is planning to install a suction line from Wood Ln. up 3rd St. to its booster pump near Ohio Ave., and would like to do this work before 3rd St. is paved," the engineer reported.

IN HIS PLEA to area residents to separate their garbage and trash, Corak reported that he received a letter from the Department of State Mines and Minerals, which is part of the Pennsylvania State Health Department, declaring that garbage still is being mixed with trash at the borough dump.

"Council has pleaded with the people in the area to stop this practice, with little result. We have no control over the closing of the dump if the health de-

Judge Studies Testimony In Phillis' Case

LISBON — Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp today began reading the long, 700 - page testimony of witnesses who appeared before the Personnel Board of Review at Columbus in December during the appeal of Russell V. Phillis from his ouster as head of the County Home.

The judge also has taken under advisement a motion by G. William Brokaw, defense attorney, to return the case to the personnel board for "conclusions of law and findings of facts" surrounding the Dec. 21 decision affirming the firing of Phillis by two of the three Columbiana County commissioners.

The motion was supported by Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis, who also asked for separate findings and conclusions supporting the decision.

The prosecutor and defense attorneys Wednesday afternoon wound up opening arguments before the court.

Among those in the audience at Wednesday's hearing were the three county commissioners, Frank Wilson, James Boyd and R. Max Gard; Commissioners' Clerk Daniel A. Butch; Commissioners' Agent Freeman Strabley, and Phillis and his wife, Betty, a former matron at the home.

Judge Studies Testimony In Phillis' Case

LISBON — Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp today began reading the long, 700 - page testimony of witnesses who appeared before the Personnel Board of Review at Columbus in December during the appeal of Russell V. Phillis from his ouster as head of the County Home.

The judge also has taken under advisement a motion by G. William Brokaw, defense attorney, to return the case to the personnel board for "conclusions of law and findings of facts" surrounding the Dec. 21 decision affirming the firing of Phillis by two of the three Columbiana County commissioners.

The motion was supported by Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis, who also asked for separate findings and conclusions supporting the decision.

The prosecutor and defense attorneys Wednesday afternoon wound up opening arguments before the court.

Among those in the audience at Wednesday's hearing were the three county commissioners, Frank Wilson, James Boyd and R. Max Gard; Commissioners' Clerk Daniel A. Butch; Commissioners' Agent Freeman Strabley, and Phillis and his wife, Betty, a former matron at the home.

Men Picked Up In Attempted Entering

WEIRTON — Hearings were scheduled today for three Pittsburgh men apprehended by police early this morning while attempting to break into Broadview Inn.

Nick J. Kontos, 19, and his brother, Gus Kontos, 22, and Regis Donahue, also 22, were being held in Hancock County Jail in lieu of $2,000 bonds.

They were captured by Patrolmen Donald Mentzer and Sal Trujillo during a routine patrol.

The officers said they noticed a man standing in front of the inn at 2:35 a. m. with a black bag in his hand. Questioning him, they found assorted tools in the bag.

As the questioning continued, the officers noticed a car pulling out of Harmon Ave. and

Leniency Shown Man Accused Of 'Running' Light

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted the benefit of the doubt to a Burgettstown man charged with crashing a traffic signal after the motorist said he is a member of Gov. Scranton's Pennsylvania Safety Council.

The defendant was Frank Dellaria, cited by Patrolman Karl Samples Feb. 9 on a charge he ran a traffic signal at 3rd and Market Sts. Dellaria pleaded not guilty to the charge previously and had been free on a $17.50 appearance bond pending a trial this morning.

Samples testified he observed Dellaria crash the signal. But the motorist said the signal showed both amber and green lights when he entered the intersection. He commented that he is particularly careful to observe highway laws, explaining: "I am a member of the Governor's Safety Council of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

"This is one of those borderline cases that happens quite frequently when a light is changing," the judge commented. "I think the officer did the right thing, but on the other hand you would not want this violation on your record if you are a member of the Governor's Safety Council. Case dismissed."

Humphrey

ucation for Humphrey, despite his long familiarity with world problems from years as a U.S. senator.

The mission started out appearing to be a sort of drum-beating exercise, merchandising the new emphasis on social and economic reform measures which emerged from the Honolulu conference between President Johnson and South Vietnamese leaders.

But it soon became evident that Humphrey's aims were broader than that.

In Viet Nam, he sought to gauge the sincerity of Ky and others in the Saigon government and the practicality of their plans for "rural reconstruction" and similar uplift measures.

Humphrey convinced himself that Ky means what he says and that the plans are generally sound. But the vice president is under no illusions that the execution of those plans will be easy, particularly because South Viet Nam is short on trained technicians and specialists.

The vice president did not hesitate to talk to Ky about curbing black marketeering and corruption, which undermine public confidence in the Saigon government. Ky assured him he intended to act—and he did so, shortly after Humphrey left.

Moving on to other countries in the critical Asian area, Humphrey sought to plant the idea that these nations must work in harness in facing the common menace of Red China.

He told leaders in Bangkok, Vientiane, Karachi, New Delhi and elsewhere that they must take the lead, that they must try to mobilize support and help from other non-Communist nations and not rely wholly on the United States.

Over and over, Humphrey stressed that the military facet should not overshadow the long-range aspect involving programs to eradicate the economic inequities, the poverty, the injustices on which the Communists feed in promoting subversion.

He spoke firmly to the Indians and the Pakistanis, telling them the United States expects them to come up with the deeds to back up the words of the Tashkent Agreement. That agreement is regarded as a start toward resolving the long-standing feuding between the two neighbors in the South Asian subcontinent.

In Australia and New Zealand, the vice president sought to encourage the trend in those countries toward identification with the interests of the Asian area. In the past those nations have been oriented more toward Britain and the British Commonwealth.

Journey To Never-Never Land

One firm agreement came out of the skirmish that erupted when Sen. Kennedy of New York said it was unrealistic to bar the Viet Cong from cease-fire negotiations in Viet Nam.

The skirmish itself was evidence of the temper tantrums threatening sound judgment in a national crisis. Affairs have reached such a point men cannot even talk about their common problems without flying into hysteria.

There is not now and never was any significant disagreement between Sen. Kennedy and the shrill defenders of everything that has been done or might be done by the Johnson administration. All it took was one calm session between the senator and the presidential press secretary Bill Moyers to cool down the hysteria and reach firm agreement on a key point.

THE KEY POINT is that the United States will settle for a promise of elections in South Viet Nam to determine the country's political future.

It will abide by the outcome of an election, even if the outcome is in disagreement with U.S. aims. For example, South Viet Nam might repudiate the United States.

To make an election possible, the United States will tolerate spokesmen for the Viet Cong in negotiations.

It will not consent, however, to letting the Viet Cong take over before an election; it will consent only to talk to the Viet Cong, along with North Viet Nam, about a cease-fire to make an election possible.

These points have been cleared up. It may reasonably be assumed they are points on which there could be general agreement, except for extremists who want to use an undeclared war in Southeast Asia as a taking-off point for Asiatic genocide, to purge whole areas of all possible Communists.

ONLY ONE THING is wrong. The idea of an election is an outline of a journey to never-never land.

How can there be a meaningful election in an area that can be called a nation only by courtesy, involving millions of illiterate and uninformed people who have been carrying on a civil war as long as some of them can remember?

An election might give the United States a way to extricate itself, but it takes a far stretch of the imagination to believe it would settle anything as far as Viet Nam is concerned.

Would it stop the civil war?

Back To The Strong Mayor

The most exciting thing in politics at the moment is Mayor John V. Lindsay's effort to reorganize the government structure of New York.

If he can put the city on its financial feet and change its political image from corruption and disorganization to integrity and efficiency, every large city in the nation will be impressed with the example.

Mayor Lindsay might do again for urban politics what Calvin Coolidge did in the Boston police strike, what Theodore Roosevelt did as president of the New York board of police commissioners, what Tom Johnson and Harold Burton did for Cleveland. All built their public careers and strengthened their party by strong civic leadership.

Mayor Lindsay made a wry joke the other day about the endless succession of challenging problems that confronted him. The latest, he pointed out, was how to control the police department, to make it answerable to civic authority.

He also is having trouble with Robert Moses, who for many years has thought of himself as independent of New York's mayor on highway planning.

Mayor Lindsay wants to go back to the strong-mayor plan of city government, against the will of the "power brokers"—a phrase he uses to refer to the unseen people who for years have told New York mayors what they could and could not do—unseen people who never run for public office yet dominate the men who do.

He is undertaking a significant experiment. He may fail. In that event, New York will go from bad to worse financially and in all other respects.

If he succeeds, on the other hand, our increasingly urban society will have a fresh formula for municipal administration. The Republican party, which has been out of the picture as far as being able to oust Democrats in big-city politics, might get a new lease on life.

Many a poor working girl's heart beat faster over the information in a magazine interview with Luci Baines Johnson that she and her husband-to-be will live off his income after they get married this coming summer.

Patrick Nugent's present income is $93.80 a month. He earns it for being on active duty with the Air National Guard. When he finishes active duty in April, his future income will be uncertain.

But does anyone want to risk a macaroni dinner for two against the price of a steak repast with all trimmings that Luci and Pat won't be doing all right when it's time to do their budgeting?

If it were going to be any other way, a call should go out now for Sargent Shriver to bring his anti-poverty forces to bear before young Mr. Nugent and his attractive fiance blunder into a traumatic experience with penury.

All of us admire self-reliance. And no one has more cause to admire it than poor working girls who were thrilled when Miss Johnson began to study for a nursing career. She says she will finish her nursing studies after marriage, though her husband-to-be will not let her work at a nursing career.

He will support her, she explains in the magazine interview.

Lots of luck, Luci and Pat. But don't try it on $93.80 a month!

Peace Corps Tilts With Draft

By Andrew Hamilton

Peace Corps officials are becoming worried about the war. They are concerned that they will be unable to recruit the young men they need to maintain and expand Peace Corps operations if draft calls continue at the present level or go up.

The first pinch could be felt this spring and summer. When the Peace Corps hopes to sign up about 4,000 draft-age men to fill out its currently authorized strength. Most of the prospective recruits are currently in college.

Since the Peace Corp's founding in 1961, the Selective Service system has taken the position that a volunteer for the corps is entitled to "national interest" (2-A) deferment, subject to the approval of his local draft board.

What worries Peace Corps officials is that now local boards, faced with the immediate demands of the Viet Nam War, may begin granting fewer deferments that in effect, remove a person from their reach for his two years of training and overseas service with the corps.

The pool of draftable manpower, meanwhile, has been shrinking and draft officials are casting their nets wider. Even heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay was classified 1-A as a result of the Pentagon's recent lowering of mental standards for draftees.

ON THE SAME DAY Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey told a House subcommittee that draft boards will begin taking a tougher attitude on student deferments.

"Under present conditions," Gen. Hershey said, "available manpower 19 to 26 will be adequate to meet the needs of the armed forces only if local boards classify as available for service some men that they would have deferred a year ago."

Over the last five years there have been scattered cases, Peace Corps officials say, where local boards drafted a man whom they had accepted for training.

The number of such cases has gone up in the last six months as a result of higher draft calls. But the officials state that the problem has not yet reached troublesome proportions.

A number of Peace Corpsmen returning from their two-years service also have been drafted recently, to their dismay.

Although a volunteer's draft-deferred status lapses when he leaves the Peace Corps, some volunteers apparently have gained the impression that they would be left free to continue their education or pursue a career when they completed their service.

While Peace Corps officials try to see that returning volunteers get fair treatment by their draft boards, they stress that the corps has never been accepted as a substitute for military service.

THE HIGHER DRAFT call of the last six months have coincided with a planned expansion of the Peace Corps from about 13,700 on Aug. 31, 1967.

To meet their current authorized strength of about 14,500 volunteers on Aug. 31, 1966, officials say, they will have to recruit nearly 10,000 new volunteers during the next five months. About 60 per cent of these will be men, of whom three-quarters will be of draft age. Most of them will become available in June, at the end of the school year.

Peace Corps recruiters currently are combing colleges and universities for acceptable volunteers. Letters of acceptance will go out later this spring, and recruits will be assigned to training programs beginning during the summer months. Some training programs may not begin until late August.

Peace Corps officials fear that increasing numbers of local draft boards will refuse to grant deferments for recruits who are finishing college or taking a leave of absence from school for Peace Corps service—particularly when the recruit must wait two or three months before his actual service begins.

If the Peace Corps recruitment is affected this year, officials say they may have to cancel some projects and cut back on others. They are reluctant to accept a big shift in the current ratio of 60 per cent male volunteers to 40 per cent female, and note that on many projects women cannot be substituted for men.

THE PEACE CORPS also anticipates plans to expand activities in 1967 could be hampered if the war continues to require high draft calls next year.

Officials at Vista, the domestic Peace Corps operated by the Office of Economic Opportunity, are less concerned that the draft will affect them since only 40 per cent of its planned 4,500 volunteers are men.

Vista and Peace Corps officials doubt that they are getting a significant number of applications from students who want to escape military service in Viet Nam. Peace Corpsmen say that the ratio of applications from men and women have remained constant for several years. Both organizations also feel that their tests enable them to select persons with genuine motivation for volunteer work.

There has been concern in other quarters that the draft will hamper efforts to meet the nation's needs for trained manpower. Hershey's statement on tougher standards for college deferments was delivered in the course of a House subcommittee inquiry, headed by Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., into the need for college and university graduates in all fields.

Meanwhile, the draft also is being attacked for drawing too heavily on young men from lower-middle class families with little education. An article by Jeffrey Goodman in the February issue of the Atlantic magazine says these draftees are carrying a disproportionate share of the actual combat in Viet Nam.

Kennedy's Stand

By David Lawrence

Controversial Statement Repeated

Maybe Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York sincerely believed that his proposal for a negotiated peace in Viet Nam would be easily understood, but it hasn't turned out that way. Even Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who said later that Mr. Kennedy's statement had been misinterpreted, temporarily created a bit of puzzlement himself as he tried to fit the senator's proposal into the administration's pattern for peace in Viet Nam, but subsequently gave up the attempt.

David Lawrence

Sen. Kennedy started out by advocating peace by negotiation as preferable to "military victory" or "withdrawal." He suggested that the national liberation front — which is, of course, Communist in its origin and sympathies — should be given participation in the South Viet Nam government. Everyone can decide for himself what Mr. Kennedy's words really mean by reading the significant paragraphs in his statement, which are quoted verbatim as follows:

"Whatever the exact status of the National Liberation Front — puppet or partly independent — any negotiated settlement must accept the fact that there are discontented elements in South Viet Nam, Communist and non-Communist, who desire to change the existing political and economic system of the country.

"There are three things you can do with such groups: kill or repress them, turn the country over to them, or admit them to a share of power and responsibility. The first two are possible only through force of arms.

"The last — to admit them to a share of power and responsibility — is at the heart of the hope for a negotiated settlement. It's not the easy way, or the sure way; nor can the manner or the degree of participation now be described with any precision. It may come through a single conference or many meetings, or by a slow undramatic process of gradual accommodation.

"IT WILL REQUIRE enormous skill and political wisdom to find the point at which participation does not bring domination or internal conquest. It will take statesmanship willing to exploit the very real differences of ambition and intention and interest between Hanoi and Peking and the Soviet Union. It may mean a compromise government fully acceptable to neither side."

Mr. Kennedy underlined that last sentence, and then added:

"It certainly means that we must take considerable risks in the expectation that social and economic success will weaken the appeal of Communism — and that sharing the burden and the satisfaction of helping to guide a nation will attract hostile elements toward a solution which will preserve both the independence of their country and their new found share of power. We must be willing to face the uncertainties of election, and the possibility of an eventual vote on reunification."

Gen. Taylor seemed to think that Sen. Kennedy had called for free elections before the Communists would be entitled to any representation in the South Viet Nam government, but a careful reading of the above quotation indicates that the New York senator believes a compromise should be effected at the peace table itself. He would apparently assure the Communists not only of participation in the peace negotiations but also of "a share of power and responsibility" in any government formed in South Viet Nam, and then elections would be held sometime afterwards.

HISTORY SHOWS that the same kind of thing — a coalition government — was advocated by the United States for China after World War II, but the Communists succeeded in taking over the country anyhow.

Sen. Kennedy intimated that some way must be found to protect Viet Nam from "sudden and violent upheaval." He said:

"There must be international guarantees to back up agreement, good faith and mutual self-interest. Foreign forces must be withdrawn, by balanced and verified stages. And we must insist that the political process go forward under the rigorous supervision of a trusted international body."

Realistically speaking, there is no such thing as good faith or grounds for mutual trust where the Communists are concerned. They have proved their lack of sincerity again and again. They violated the 1954 agreement made at Geneva which had in it virtually the same pledges designed to safeguard the independence of Viet Nam. So what Sen. Kennedy has set forth in theory is, unfortunately, contradicted by actual experience. That's the nubbins of the whole controversy.

THE PRESIDENT has the responsibility for making decisions, and it's difficult for him to carry on delicate negotiations involving such dangerous issues while members of the Senate, who have no such responsibility, make public statements giving the impression that the United States will do almost anything to get out of the Viet Nam War. While the word "surrender" is tabooed, many proposals are being made inside and outside of Congress that amount to the same thing.

How will all this be interpreted now in Hanoi and Peking? Will it be construed as weakness and a "peace at any price" movement? The very fact that prominent senators are taking unto themselves the right to participate in negotiations through speechmaking adds to the difficulties of the President of United States nowadays in conducting America's foreign relations in the midst of a war crisis.

Journey To Never-Never Land

One firm agreement came out of the skirmish that erupted when Sen. Kennedy of New York said it was unrealistic to bar the Viet Cong from cease-fire negotiations in Viet Nam.

The skirmish itself was evidence of the temper tantrums threatening sound judgment in a national crisis. Affairs have reached such a point men cannot even talk about their common problems without flying into hysteria.

There is not now and never was any significant disagreement between Sen. Kennedy and the shrill defenders of everything that has been done or might be done by the Johnson administration. All it took was one calm session between the senator and the presidential press secretary Bill Moyers to cool down the hysteria and reach firm agreement on a key point.

THE KEY POINT is that the United States will settle for a promise of elections in South Viet Nam to determine the country's political future.

It will abide by the outcome of an election, even if the outcome is in disagreement with U.S. aims. For example, South Viet Nam might repudiate the United States.

To make an election possible, the United States will tolerate spokesmen for the Viet Cong in negotiations.

It will not consent, however, to letting the Viet Cong take over before an election; it will consent only to talk to the Viet Cong, along with North Viet Nam, about a cease-fire to make an election possible.

These points have been cleared up. It may reasonably be assumed they are points on which there could be general agreement, except for extremists who want to use an undeclared war in Southeast Asia as a taking-off point for Asiatic genocide, to purge whole areas of all possible Communists.

ONLY ONE THING is wrong. The idea of an election is an outline of a journey to never-never land.

How can there be a meaningful election in an area that can be called a nation only by courtesy, involving millions of illiterate and uninformed people who have been carrying on a civil war as long as some of them can remember?

An election might give the United States a way to extricate itself, but it takes a far stretch of the imagination to believe it would settle anything as far as Viet Nam is concerned.

Would it stop the civil war?

Back To The Strong Mayor

The most exciting thing in politics at the moment is Mayor John V. Lindsay's effort to reorganize the government structure of New York.

If he can put the city on its financial feet and change its political image from corruption and disorganization to integrity and efficiency, every large city in the nation will be impressed with the example.

Mayor Lindsay might do again for urban politics what Calvin Coolidge did in the Boston police strike, what Theodore Roosevelt did as president of the New York board of police commissioners, what Tom Johnson and Harold Burton did for Cleveland. All built their public careers and strengthened their party by strong civic leadership.

Mayor Lindsay made a wry joke the other day about the endless succession of challenging problems that confronted him. The latest, he pointed out, was how to control the police department, to make it answerable to civic authority.

He also is having trouble with Robert Moses, who for many years has thought of himself as independent of New York's mayor on highway planning.

Mayor Lindsay wants to go back to the strong-mayor plan of city government, against the will of the "power brokers"—a phrase he uses to refer to the unseen people who for years have told New York mayors what they could and could not do—unseen people who never run for public office yet dominate the men who do.

He is undertaking a significant experiment. He may fail. In that event, New York will go from bad to worse financially and in all other respects.

If he succeeds, on the other hand, our increasingly urban society will have a fresh formula for municipal administration. The Republican party, which has been out of the picture as far as being able to oust Democrats in big-city politics, might get a new lease on life.

State police at the Chippewa Township barracks reported today that the abandoned car was stolen at Chester Feb. 13.

"Young, the owner, reported the theft to Hancock County authorities at the time" they said.

partment deems it necessary. Midland is one of the few communities in the state to have two garbage pickups during the week. We urge residents to help solve this problem by stopping the practice of mixing trash and garbage.

"The letter informed me that an inspector from the state department discovered 50 per cent of garbage mixed in with a truckload of trash. We are trying desperately to hold off closing of the dump until the all - purpose incinerator is completed.

"In an effort to erase some of the breeding of rats and alleviate some of the discomforts of the mixture at the dump, Council has instructed Matt Brozic, city street department manager, to use a high - lift to clean up some of the mess. It also has purchased hot lime for spreading over the dump. But we need the help of the residents to do a thorough job and hold off state action on the problem until the incinerator plant is built," Corak explained.

"THE PRESENT incinerator is not capable of dealing with the refuse if the dump should be closed," he emphasized.

The borough engineer also reported a new door for the borough garage has been installed by the Midland Lumber Co.

Council instructed the borough secretary to send letters to the Chamber of Commerce requesting the removal of the Christmas trees on Midland Ave. and to Richard S. Zinn, District 3 air pollution control engineer, to appear at the next meeting to discuss Crucible's plan for control of smoke pollution.

Zinn was unable to attend last night's meeting, but sent a letter informing Council that the plan proposed by Crucible on Jan. 14 was "highly efficient and satisfactory." He also informed council that the company "is to start making progress reports on the plan beginning March 31."

"Council wants Zinn to appear at the March 9 meeting to learn exactly what Crucible's plans are for removing the blight that hovers over the community," Vice President Raymond Presutti said.

IN OTHER communications, Council was asked to donate $500 for the Veterans Day observance to be hosted by Midland American Legion Post 481. The request was turned over to the finance committee for study.

Michael Raich, in a letter, requested that the borough engineer inspect the hill at the west end of Midland Ave. to check on slides so the gas company may re-establish service to the last eight homes in that area. "The gas company discontinued service to these houses following a landslide about 10 years ago. I constructed a brick wall behind one of the houses at that time, and the hill hasn't moved since then. All the gas company needs is a report from the borough engineer affirming continuation of services," he wrote.

Council authorized the engineer to inspect the situation and to report on the safety or resuming service.

Councilman Joseph D'Alesio reported that the post - prom party will be sponsored by USW Local 1212, the date to be announced.

D'Alesio also asked that a letter be sent to the State Department of Highways calling for inspection of Route 68 from Midland to East Liverpool. "The highway has been sinking on the south side, and corrections should be made. Those who use the road are endangered by this condition," he reported.

Council authorized the secretary to inform the Highway Department of the problem.

COUNCIL ALSO viewed a movie on snow removal equipment provided by Tenor Bros., Inc., of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, secretary, reported that the proposed borough budget is still open to public inspection. "Interested persons may inspect the budget from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., Monday through Friday, at the borough office until March 4," she reminded.

After the meeting, Jules Jacobs, a trustee for the Midland Presbyterian Church, asked Council to act on what he termed a traffic hazard at Virginia and Ohio Aves. "The lives of children are at stake at this wide intersection because of the increasing number of motorists who fail to slow down. A stop sign at the top of 9th St. or some kind of safety island might help solve this problem," he said.

Corak told Jacobs his report would not be put on the official record, because the meeting already had been adjourned, but promised "Council will do its utmost to remedy the situation."

"Signs warning motorists of areas where children are present have been ordered, and this particular area has been pointed out for posting of one of these signs," he said.

"Many millworkers have been using Virginia Ave. as a quick and alternate route out of the borough, which accounts for the heavy traffic. This area has been under close observation and council has plans for alleviating the problem," Corak assured Jacobs.

Democratic 'Party-Split' Battle Looms

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Sen. Patrick MaNamara' decision to retire from the U.S. Senate opens the way for what could be a party-splitting battle for the Democratic nomination.

If Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and former six-term Gov. G. Mennen Williams both seek the nomination it could bring the most serious Democratic split in Michigan since the 1960 gubernatorial primary.

McNamara, 71, announced in Washington Wednesday that he would not seek re-election this year.

Michigan's senior senator, hospitalized off and on in recent years, blamed "relatively minor ailments" for his expected decision to quit. He now is completing his second term as a senator.

Williams, 55, and the 37-year-old Cavanagh, elected to a second term as Detroit's mayor last fall, both followed up with statements they would take a look at the situation before making decisions whether to try for the nomination.

Detroit's mayoralty is nonpartisan. Cavanagh is a Democrat in private politics.

stopped it and found the driver was one of the brothers. While the brothers were being interrogated, the officers heard a noise in a wooded area at the rear of the inn and nabbed Donahue.

Police said a screen covering on a rear basement window had been tied open.

Meanwhile, officers went to Wheeling Wednesday night where an artist prepared a drawing of a man who fled with $1,000 in cash from an open safe at Christy's Fruit Market yesterday afternoon.

The drawing was made from descriptions furnished by witnesses.

Police said the man, between 20 and 25, escaped in a black auto.

Frank Detorrie, assistant manager, said he was working in the office when a man approached and asked to use the rest room. Detorrie told officers he was called away from the office and returned to find the man and money missing.

Ohio Nonagriculture Jobs Jump 358,500

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nonagricultural jobs in Ohio jumped by 358,500 in the period between January 1962 and January 1966, representing an employment increase of 11.9 per cent.

During the same period, reported Willard P. Dudley, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, the Ohio unemployment rate was reduced by 48.5 per cent.

Dudley said 3,368,100 persons were working in non-agricultural jobs in Ohio during January, 1966. Employment in January, 1962, he said, was 3,009,600.

Area Drive Will Assist Educational TV Setup

Volunteer workers for the Midland Area WQED fund drive have been announced by Lloyd R. Murphy of Midland, chairman.

The drive began last Wednesday and will continue through March 16, Murphy said.

Midland workers are: Charles Whittacre, industry and contractors; Anthony Martell, businesses; Paul McGeehan, banks and real estate; Henry L. Cannon Jr., funeral directors; Mrs. Jack Haggerty, schools and parent - teacher associations, and Miss Mildred Milkovich, service organizations and clubs. A volunteer to solicit individuals will be named later.

Industry Borough volunteers are P. K. O'Hara, Kenneth Janke, Mrs. Arnold Robbins and Mrs. Joseph Rasillo, and in Ohioville Borough and Glasgow Borough, Mrs. Wayne McGaffick, chairman of the community service committee of the Fairview Grange.

For the South Side area, including Shippingport, Georgetown, Hookstown and Greene Township, volunteers are Ray Scott, Richard McHaffie and John Herron.

Murphy said the countywide goal for the drive is $7,000 and funds solicited will make up 40 per cent of the income needed to operate the educational television station. He said the station has several projects planned for improvement of its reception in the nine - county viewing area.

Murphy said the Ford Foundation will match 50 cents with every dollar raised during the drive.

John Carver of Beaver is Beaver County chairman for the campaign.

Moore's Against Proposal To End Student Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Arch Moore Jr., R-W.Va., said Wednesday he plans to oppose President Johnson's proposal to end the student loan program under the National Defense Education Act.

Moore, the state's only Republican congressman, said "more than a million needy students have been able to get their college education with help from the loan fund since its inception in 1958."

He said in West Virginia alone, $1.8 million in federal money has been loaned out to students attending 19 colleges and universities.

Moore said the administration plans to "phase out" the NDEA loan program in favor of government - guaranteed loans which were authorized by Congress last year under the Higher Education Act. "At least, the budget request for the next fiscal year contains no funds for the NDEA program," he said.

Son Of Policeman Admits He Killed Man

CLEVELAND (AP)—The son of a Cleveland policeman admitted Wednesday the slaying of an ex-convict acquaintance, according to Lawrence W. Doran, chief of the homicide unit of the Cuyahoga County Sheriff's Department.

William Haslem, 25, Parma Heights, told police he shot Salvatore Caputo, 43, but claimed self-defense. He is held without charge.

Haslem was arrested shortly before midnight Tuesday while apparently attempting to put Caputo in the trunk of his car parked in suburban Beachwood, police said.

Police said they believed the pair had argued over a debt which one owed the other.

Ohio Wage Board Sets 2nd Public Hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Retail Wage Board, studying a minimum wage for women and minors, will hold its second public hearing here March 1.

Industrial Relations Director William O. Walker appointed the nine-member board after a survey of wages paid to employes of retail establishments was completed by his department.

Dr. Sheppard Hearing May Be Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Samuel and Ariane Sheppard, well known visitors from Rocky River, Ohio, faced today perhaps a longer stay in the Nation's Capital than anticipated.

There was better than an even chance the U. S. Supreme Court wouldn't get to the "Dr. Sam" murder case today. If not, the hearing on Sheppard's appeal involving his 1954 conviction in the bludgeon slaying of his pregnant first wife would be put off until Monday.

Ohio Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, here to argue personally the state's efforts to return Sheppard to prison, said it depends on the crowded court docket.

Sheppard and his second wife, whom he married after a federal judge freed him in 1964 on grounds adverse publicity affected his trial, left Cleveland Wednesday to be on hand for the proceedings here.

The former osteopath's lawyers and Saxbe will argue the validity of a federal appeals court ruling. That ruling reversed the freedom edict but left Sheppard out of prison pending the Supreme Court outcome.

Panel Dismisses One Of Charges Against Domer

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—One of the two charges in the indictment against Robert K. Domer, who is being tried a second time for murder, has been dismissed by a three-judge panel ruling on a defense motion claiming double jeopardy.

The judges Wednesday dismissed a kidnaping charge against Domer, but took under advisement a part of the motion seeking acquittal of Domer on a first-degree murder charge, also claimed to be double jeopardy.

Domer, 46, a former Canton mortgage investment broker, is charged with the death of Howard F. Riddle, 54, Akron, whose charred body was found in Domer's burning automobile April 23, 1963, near the Wayne-Stark county line.

The prosecution charged that Domer killed Riddle in a plot to fake his own death so his family could collect $288,000 in insurance. The defense claimed Riddle died of a heart ailment before his body was put in the car.

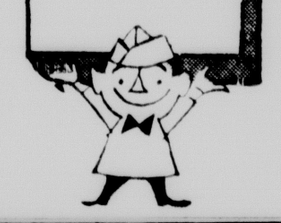

Domer was convicted by a three-judge panel in November, 1963, and he was sentenced to die in the electric chair, but he was awarded a new trial on appeal.

Panel Dismisses One Of Charges Against Domer

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—One of the two charges in the indictment against Robert K. Domer, who is being tried a second time for murder, has been dismissed by a three-judge panel ruling on a defense motion claiming double jeopardy.

The judges Wednesday dismissed a kidnaping charge against Domer, but took under advisement a part of the motion seeking acquittal of Domer on a first-degree murder charge, also claimed to be double jeopardy.

Domer, 46, a former Canton mortgage investment broker, is charged with the death of Howard F. Riddle, 54, Akron, whose charred body was found in Domer's burning automobile April 23, 1963, near the Wayne-Stark county line.

The prosecution charged that Domer killed Riddle in a plot to fake his own death so his family could collect $288,000 in insurance. The defense claimed Riddle died of a heart ailment before his body was put in the car.

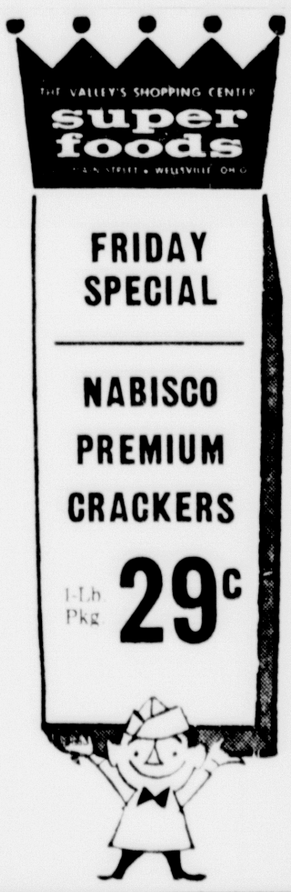

Domer was convicted by a three-judge panel in November, 1963, and he was sentenced to die in the electric chair, but he was awarded a new trial on appeal.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago my doctor told me I would have a baby in April—between the 12th and the 20th. This is our first child so naturally Zellic and I are very excited.

A few weeks ago Zellic asked me if I thought I would have the baby by April 15. I told him there was no way of knowing for sure and I asked him why he cared. He said, "We need the tax deduction." I was offended that he would think of money at a time like this but I kept quiet.

This morning Zellic said, "Why don't you jump off the table a few times? It might bring the baby sooner." I told him that was the worst thing he ever said in his whole life.

He replied, "Any time after seven months a baby is fully developed. And just think—you would get out of two months of lugging that load."

I'm very disappointed that my husband is so insensitive to what a woman goes through to have a baby. Believe me I'm not planning on jumping off any tables, but he is wrong about babies being fully developed at seven months, isn't he? — P. G. ARLENE.

Dear Arlene: Babies born before the seventh month stand a poor chance of survival. Moreover, his suggestion that you jump off a table to get the baby here early and save a buck is absolutely shameful. Someone ought to tell Zellic that the April 15 deadline is for filing. He missed the tax deduction deadline on Dec. 31, 1965.

Two-Letter Word

Dear Ann: My husband and I want you to give us a one-word reply to our question. "Yes" or "No."

It isn't essential that you give reasons for your reply because there has been endless discussion on the subject. Your answer will be final.

Our 16-year-old daughter has been invited by the parents of her boy friend on a 10-day camping trip. Their son is 16, too, and has no brothers or sisters. It would be just the four of them. Yes or no?—ALL EARS.

Dear All: No. And thank you for making it so easy.

Dear Ann: Please tell me if you think I am losing my mind. I wouldn't discuss this with anyone else but if you feel I need to see a psychiatrist I will make an appointment at once.

Whenever I leave the house I check the gas jets even though I never leave the kitchen without making sure they are off.

Whenever I step into a car I make certain that I put my right foot into the car first. Somehow I feel this assures me of a safe journey. I never have been in an accident so I cannot understand why I go out of my way to "protect" myself.

Are these little peculiar habits signs of insanity? I need your help. — UNSURE AND WORRIED.

Dear Unsure: Everyone has a few odd habits (the experts call them neurotic compulsions) and some make less sense than yours. So long as the habits do not interfere with your daily life there is no reason to be concerned. Signs of instanity? No!

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear All: No. And thank you for making it so easy.

Dear Ann: Please tell me if you think I am losing my mind. I wouldn't discuss this with anyone else but if you feel I need to see a psychiatrist I will make an appointment at once.

Whenever I leave the house I check the gas jets even though I never leave the kitchen without making sure they are off.

Whenever I step into a car I make certain that I put my right foot into the car first. Somehow I feel this assures me of a safe journey. I never have been in an accident so I cannot understand why I go out of my way to "protect" myself.

Are these little peculiar habits signs of insanity? I need your help. — UNSURE AND WORRIED.

Dear Unsure: Everyone has a few odd habits (the experts call them neurotic compulsions) and some make less sense than yours. So long as the habits do not interfere with your daily life there is no reason to be concerned. Signs of instanity? No!

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

John Steinbinder, who said he is employed as a diesel mechanic in Negley, also was ordered to pay the court costs. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Mrs. Gladys M. Roberts, 38, of Houston Rd. was fined $20 and costs when she pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the Freeway. The judge warned her that her permit will be suspended for another offense. She was cited Wednesday at 3:45 p. m. by the patrol.

Kenneth E. Marshall, 40, of 172 Center St., Beechwood, drew a fine of $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to dim his headlights for oncoming traffic. He was cited by the patrol Saturday on Route 30. Queried by the judge, Marshall said he "forgot" to dim his lights.

Kenneth Karl Fillmore of E. 3rd St. forfeited a $50 bond on a charge of operating an auto without a driver's license. He was cited by the patrol Tuesday on Route 30.

In two cases dating back to Feb. 16, James H. Canton of 1968 Michigan Ave. was fined $5 and costs on a charge of crashing a traffic signal at E. 6th and Walnut Sts. and ordered to pay the costs on a charge of operating an auto without a driver's license.

Canton's case had been continued to permit him to apply for a new permit. He produced the license in court this morning.

New Charges Filed In Fight

Two new charges were filed today in Municipal Court as the aftermath of what police described as a fight Tuesday night in an East End trailer court, bringing to five the number of charges and counter - charges awaiting a decision Tuesday morning before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The first three charges were filed shortly after the alleged battle. Celio Chavez of Ferry Rd., Chester, was charged with threatening Mrs. Alyce Lee, a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Wilson of the Valley Trailer Court on Pennsylvania Ave. Robert Delgado of Waterford Park was accused of assault on both Wilson and Mrs. Lee.

In the new actions filed this morning, Mrs. Lucy Delgado, wife of Robert, filed an affidavit alleging that Mrs. Marlene Wilson, wife of James Wilson, obtained three deliveries of fuel oil worth $26.50 by "false pretense," charging them to the Delgados. In addition, Chavez filed an affidavit charging Wilson with assault and battery.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson requested time to obtain counsel. The judge then continued all five cases until Tuesday morning at 9. Chavez and Delgado entered not guilty pleas this morning through their counsel, Donald E. Smith.

Police said Wilson, Mrs. Lee and Chavez all claimed injuries as the result of the incident Tuesday night at the Wilson's trailer home. Officers said the trailer is owned by the Delgados. Wilson and Mrs. Lee claimed they were struck with a club.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: To conserve on closet space, I use skirt hangers for my boys' pants and also for my bermudas, etc.

The standard skirt hanger has 12 clamps. Each clamp will hold two pairs of pants if hung by the cuff.

Therefore, 24 items can be hung on one hanger.

It's been a wonderful space saver for me.

MRS. E. R. B.

DEAR HELOISE: My daughter, son and I all like to watch TV while we eat our dinner, so I put up my ironing board, lowering it to table height, then cover it.

We line up our chairs behind the board, and enjoy TV with our meals.

The board is much sturdier than TV trays, and there is only one "table" to set and clear away after the meal!

EVELYN HALSTEAD.

Wouldn't this be an adorable idea for a mother with more than one tot? Or when your little darling had a playmate over?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I cut off the top of a one-half gallon milk carton, and carry the bottom half from room to room to empty ash trays in.

This not only saves steps to and from the waste basket, but I don't have to wash ashes from the waste basket either. Also keeps odors down, as the top may be mashed flat.

MRS. MILDRED SMITH.

DEAR HELOISE: For mothers who have a regular stove, whether electric or gas (but not the built-in type with the wall oven), and find themselves running short on clean diapers, they can light the oven, leave the door open, and put a small electric fan on a chair to one side of it. Then place the clean, washed diapers on a folding - type clothes rack on the other side of the oven door.

As the fan turns, it will blow the heat across the diapers and dry them in nothing flat.

Every once in a while it seems that all of us mommies have our bad days, and this takes care of one situation.

I also learned that I can put my baby's little undershirts (or just anything that has to be dried in a hurry) on the corners of the rack.

APPRECIATIVE MOTHER.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of worrying about darkening a pan every time I boil eggs, I keep one old pan just for this purpose.

I don't bother to scour it afterwards—I just hide it behind my good pans!

A bit sneaky, but it sure saves elbow grease!

CALLIE.

Did you know . . . if you add a pinch of cream-of-tartar to the water you boil your eggs in, the pan wouldn't turn dark?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I had some place mats I no longer wished to use on the table.

After cleaning my cupboard shelves, I decided to try the mats on the kitchen shelves, and they fit perfectly. They also serve as perfect padding to reduce noise when putting away the dishes.

All it takes is a swipe with the sponge when it comes cleaning time. No more replacing shelf paper for me.

NEW LONDON.

If they're too wide, just get out the scissors and whack some off, eh?

Great idea. Thanks a bushel.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I wonder how many mothers of boys are missing a good thing when it comes to doing laundry.

One day our son wanted certain clothes washed and I told him he would have to do them himself.

He did the laundry, thoroughly enjoyed doing it, and now often offers to do the entire washing.

After all, most boys enjoy anything that has to do with machinery, so why not let them learn to operate the washer and dryer?

Also, he has learned how laundry should be done in case it becomes necessary later on when he goes away to school, etc.

YOUNG TEEN - AGER'S MOTHER.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: To conserve on closet space, I use skirt hangers for my boys' pants and also for my bermudas, etc.

The standard skirt hanger has 12 clamps. Each clamp will hold two pairs of pants if hung by the cuff.

Therefore, 24 items can be hung on one hanger.

It's been a wonderful space saver for me.

MRS. E. R. B.

DEAR HELOISE: My daughter, son and I all like to watch TV while we eat our dinner, so I put up my ironing board, lowering it to table height, then cover it.

We line up our chairs behind the board, and enjoy TV with our meals.

The board is much sturdier than TV trays, and there is only one "table" to set and clear away after the meal!

Wouldn't this be an adorable idea for a mother with more than one tot? Or when your little darling had a playmate over?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I cut off the top of a one-half gallon milk carton, and carry the bottom half from room to room to empty ash trays in.

This not only saves steps to and from the waste basket, but I don't have to wash ashes from the waste basket either. Also keeps odors down, as the top may be mashed flat.

DEAR HELOISE: For mothers who have a regular stove, whether electric or gas (but not the built-in type with the wall oven), and find themselves running short on clean diapers, they can light the oven, leave the door open, and put a small electric fan on a chair to one side of it. Then place the clean, washed diapers on a folding - type clothes rack on the other side of the oven door.

As the fan turns, it will blow the heat across the diapers and dry them in nothing flat.

Every once in a while it seems that all of us mommies have our bad days, and this takes care of one situation.

I also learned that I can put my baby's little undershirts (or just anything that has to be dried in a hurry) on the corners of the rack.

APPRECIATIVE MOTHER.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of worrying about darkening a pan every time I boil eggs, I keep one old pan just for this purpose.

I don't bother to scour it afterwards—I just hide it behind my good pans!

A bit sneaky, but it sure saves elbow grease!

Did you know . . . if you add a pinch of cream-of-tartar to the water you boil your eggs in, the pan wouldn't turn dark?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I had some place mats I no longer wished to use on the table.

After cleaning my cupboard shelves, I decided to try the mats on the kitchen shelves, and they fit perfectly. They also serve as perfect padding to reduce noise when putting away the dishes.

All it takes is a swipe with the sponge when it comes cleaning time. No more replacing shelf paper for me.

If they're too wide, just get out the scissors and whack some off, eh?

Great idea. Thanks a bushel.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I wonder how many mothers of boys are missing a good thing when it comes to doing laundry.

One day our son wanted certain clothes washed and I told him he would have to do them himself.

He did the laundry, thoroughly enjoyed doing it, and now often offers to do the entire washing.

After all, most boys enjoy anything that has to do with machinery, so why not let them learn to operate the washer and dryer?

Also, he has learned how laundry should be done in case it becomes necessary later on when he goes away to school, etc.

Wolfpack Routs Duke Conqueror

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe it's a good omen for North Carolina State in next week's Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament that determines the ACC berth in the NCAA tournament for the national collegiate basketball championship.

The Wolfpack beat out favored Duke in the ACC tourney a year ago. The same thing may happen again if the Wolfpack's 101-75 road victory over Wake Forest Wednesday night can be taken as a criterion. Only 24 hours earlier on the same court in Winston-Salem, N.C., Wake Forest had come from 15 points back to beat Duke 99-98 in overtime.

Wake Forest started 10 points in arrears at 23-13 since the game picked up where light failure on Dec. 11 forced suspension with 10 minutes left in the first half.

The Deacons never caught up this time, despite 36 points by Bob Leonard. It was Leonard's shooting which upset Duke on Tuesday. Tommy Mattocks' 21 points paced the Wolfpack.

St. Joseph's Hawks of Philadelphia and Rhode Island, two other NCAA hopefuls, won but Toledo had its hopes blasted by Western Michigan in a three-overtime struggle. Boston College, Penn State and De Paul celebrated their naming to the NIT, the other major - college postseason tourney, by defeating Tufts, Bucknell and Notre Dame, respectively.

The seventh-ranked St. Joseph Hawks, the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action, virtually wrapped up the Middle Atlantic title by whipping Lafayette 108-80 at Easton, Pa. Rhode Island, playing at home, clinched a tie for the Yankee Conference crown by whipping New Hampshire 99-62 behind Steve Chubin's 24 points.

Bob Blohm's jump shot in the last three seconds of the third extra period gave Western Michigan its surprise 74-72 road victory over Toledo. The Rockets now must beat Miami of Ohio Saturday to even hope for a tie in the Mid-American Conference. A win for the Redskins would put them in the NCAA.

Boston College whipped Tufts 94-66 and Northeastern downed Boston University 75-57 in the first round of the Beanpot Tourney at Boston. Penn State scored on the road over Bucknell 66-57 as did De Paul over Notre Dame 79-71.

Gibson Will Get $50,000, But Not Koufax's Salary

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Gibson took the low road, and Sandy Koufax will take the high road. And Gibson will get to Florida before him.

When Koufax finally gets there, though, he'll have more money.

Gibson, ace of the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff, finally agreed to a reported $50,000 contract Wednesday after threatening to hold out until he received a Koufax-like salary. The big right-hander then left for Florida by car.

Koufax, on the other hand, very possibly will remain in Los Angeles with teammate Don Drysdale when the Dodger plane takes off for Florida Saturday. The pair reportedly seek a million dollars between them for a three-year period.

"If they are serious in their demands, and I have no reason to believe they aren't, I doubt that they will be on the plane to training camp at Vero Beach Saturday," Vice Preident Buzzie Bavasi said Wednesday.

When Koufax finally boards a plane for Florida, he'll undoubtedly have a contract calling for more than twice as much as Gibson, who said recently:

"I'm not going to push for anything foolish, but if Mr. Howsam is going to compare me with the better pitchers, like Koufax, I should be paid accordingly."

Howsam is Cardinals General Manager Bob Howsam, who supposedly once said there is no better pitcher than Gibson with the possible exception of Koufax.

Gibson's $50,000 salary represents a $7,000 raise for his performance in 1965 when he won 20 games and lost 12 while finishing third in the National League in strikeouts.

Koufax would not discuss money publicly — there was a report that he seeks $600,000 for three years — but he did say he and Drysdale are negotiating jointly.

"Don and I are an entry in our salary negotiations," Koufax told the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner. "We are asking for exactly the same figure over a three-year period. I want the same for Drysdale as for Koufax, and he wants the same for Koufax as for Drysdale."

Buckpasser Passes Test, Wins Everglades By Head

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It'll be Ogden Phipps' Buckpasser, champion 2-year-old colt of 1965, as odds-on favorite in the $100,000 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah March 3.

Buckpasser came through his final test as expected Wednesday when he beat his stablemate, Stupendous, by a head in the $30,400 Everglades Stakes at the Flamingo distance of 1⅛ miles.

The big, bay son of Tom Fool out of Busanda by War Admiral ran the distance in a sparkling 1:47 4-5 while carrying 122 pounds and appeared in top shape for the richer event on closing day.

Stupendous, also trained by Eddie Neloy but owned by Wheatley Stable, may pass up the Flamingo for the $45,000-added Louisiana Derby at the same distance on March 12.

Buckpasser, with Willie Shoemaker riding him for the second time, came in and bumped Stupendous lightly during their torrid stretch battle but there was no objection. The entry paid $2.40.

Braulio Baeza, who made up most of the 115 pounds on Stupendous, said his colt was thrown off stride. When asked if he might have won if he hadn't been bumped, the Panamanian rider replied, "Who knows?"

Abe's Hope got up for third money and Blue Skyer was fourth, followed by Williamston Kid, Super Shovel, Rehabilitate and Yonder.

Otterbein Star Heads Ohio Squad

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Conference coaches made it official on the eve of the league tournament—Otterbein's Don Carlos is all-conference a third straight season.

Carlos was named unanimously Wednesday night to the OC first team all-star array also including two Akron players, Bill Turner and Don Williams, plus Wooster's Tim Jordan and Marietta's Dick Sowar.

Carlos, a junior, led the conference in regular season scoring (27.8 points per game), rebounding and field goal accuracy.

Turner and Williams also are juniors, Jordan and Sowar seniors.

Backcourt men dominate the All Ohio Conference second team, which due to a tie in voting by coaches of the 15-team circuit, has six members. Freshman John Dunlop of Kenyon made it with fellow guards Chick Campbell and Ron Hoyt of Mount Union, Ken Mackovic of Akron and Jim Warstler of Hiram. Heidelberg center John Kahle also was picked.

Honorable mention was accorded Jeff Buckalew, Ohio Wesleyan; Jim Craycraft and Gary Walters, Capital; Bill Gribble and Buddy Harris, Wooster; Bob (Major) Johnson, Denison; Jack Marks, Marietta; Terry Parmelee, Kenyon; Tim Pond, Otterbein, and Dick Scott, Baldwin-Wallace.

Maloney Seeks $60,000, Called Stubborn Holdout

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Jim Maloney was labeled a "stubborn holdout" as the Cincinnati Reds began spring training Thursday for pitchers and catchers.

Maloney was tagged a "stubborn holdout" by Reds' Assistant General Manager Phil Seghi.

Maloney is reportedly seeking a contract of around $60,000, twice the amount he was paid last year. It is believed the Reds are willing to pay him around $45,000.

In a telphone interview from his Fresno, Calif., home, Maloney said Wednesday "If the Reds can't pay me what I think I'm worth, then let them trade me to a club which will."

Maloney won 20 games and lost nine last year. He hurled two 10-inning no-hitters, losing one of them in the 11th.

The Reds still have two other top-name players unsigned. The are third baseman Deron Johnson, and relief artist Billy McCool. Seghi, however, said he doesn't anticipate any trouble in signing Johnson and McCool.

First baseman Tony Perez agreed to terms Wednesday night.

Moran Eyes Retirement

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Utility infielder Billy Moran, one of three players for the Cleveland Indians still unsigned, has been given permission by club President Gabe Paul to make a deal for himself with another team.

However, it is probable that Moran will retire instead.

He has told the Indians that he would retire unless traded to another team which would give him a chance to win a regular position.

He said that when he came to the Indians in mid-1964 from the Los Angeles Angels he was making $20,000, but that his salary had been cut by more than 25 per cent. He said he could see no chance of getting the money back unless he played regularly and that he had no hope of becoming a regular with the Indians.

Moran says the only team he would be willing to sign with would be the Atlanta Braves so he could live at home and continue his insurance business. He agreed, however, that his chances for that were remote.

The Indians' other unsigned players are pitcher Ralph Terry and rookie outfielder Jose Vidal.

WPIAL Sets Schedule In 2 Playoffs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Playoff games to break ties for the WPIAL Class A sectional championships begin Friday.

The first games at the Pitt Field House pit Aliquippa and Farrell for the Section 3 title and Fox Chapel and Springdale to break a three-way tie in Section 11, the WPIAL Basketball Committee announced Wednesday night.

The tourney will move to the Civic Arena March 7 for four quarter-final games, two semi-finals and the championship.

The first round tournament games in Class B begin March 4 at four different sites, then go to the Field House for the semi-finals and championship.

Cassius Owes Divorce Fees

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — If Cassius Clay doesn't pay the fees for his recent divorce, his former wife's attorney says he is ready to attach Clay's red Cadillac limousine and wardrobe.

"He won't need them if he's going to the Army anyway," the attorney, Lawrence Hoffman, said Wednesday.

Hoffman said the combined value would go a long way toward meeting the $22,500 fee the heavyweight champion was ordered to pay when he won a divorce from Sonji Clay.

Clay was to appear in court Wednesday to explain why he hasn't paid Hoffman's fee and the first $1,250 monthly alimony for Sonji. But the hearing was postponed to March 2 because one of Clay's attorneys was ill.

The champion, who did not appear for the hearing, sparred seven rounds in preparation for his title defense against Ernie Terrell March 29.

Clay said he would go to Chicago before the weekend to appear before the Illinois Boxing Commission and attend the Black Muslim convention.

"I've got to be there," Clay said.

More than 30,000 men and women work at New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport, which handles about 75 per cent of all air passengers traveling between the U.S. and Europe.

Baylor Leads Lakers Past Cincinnati

BALTIMORE (AP) — Playmaker Wilt Chamberlain?

Maybe that's the new role the 7-foot-1 giant has assigned himself now that he's taken over the all-time scoring lead in the National Basketball Association.

Wilt must be concentrating on other aspects of his game. How else would a player of his physical stature and shooting ability be held to just 11 shots in 48 minutes?

Chamberlain, who has tried an average of 26 field goals a game, attempted only 11 Wednesday night — none in the second period — as he and the Philadelphia 76ers dropped a 119-115 decision to the Baltimore Bullets.

The New York Knickerbockers won the opener of the Civic Center doubleheader 100-98 as substitute Emmette Bryant scored the final six New York points.

In the only other game played, Elgin Baylor scored 14 of his 35 points in the final period and spearheaded the Los Angeles Lakers to a 140-133 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

For the second consecutive contest, Chamberlain was credited with 10 assists and played his usual great game off the boards with 31 rebounds. But it was his shooting which caused raised eyebrows.

"Everybody sags on him," Philadelphia Coach Dolph Schayes fumed after the game. "What else can he do?"

Schayes credited Baltimore's Bob Ferry, five inches shorter than Chamberlain, with playing well on defense but laid the greater part of the blame on the sagging defense.

Even so, Chamberlain tried his normally effective fallaway jumper only two or three times. Many times he passed out to Hal Greer, who hit 15 of 26 shots and led the 76ers with 37 points.

Wilt finished with 20 points, hitting 12 of 23 free throws.

The loss dropped Philadelphia two games behind the league-leading Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division. Baltimore, second in the Western Division, improved its playoff chances by moving three games ahead of both San Francisco and St. Louis.

The Lakers' victory over Cincinnati snapped a three-game losing streak and enabled the Western Division leaders to remain 4½ games ahead of Baltimore.

Late in the fourth period Cincinnati took the lead at 124-123 before Baylor and Jerry West teamed up to score eight straight points, putting the Lakers ahead to stay.

In the first half, the hot-shooting teams poured in 147 total points, Los Angeles leading 77-70. The pace was so hot in the first half that five Los Angeles players were in double figures, while Cincinnati had three with 10 points or more.

Leading scorer in the game was Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson with 39 while teammate Jerry Lucas had 30. Behind Bayor, West scored 29 and Rudy LaRusso sank 28.

CINCINNATI (AP) —Former basketball great George Mikan and baseball's Ted Williams are slated to speak Monday night at a $55-a-plate testimonial dinner for Jack Twyman who is retiring at the end of this season after 11 years with the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It'll be Ogden Phipps' Buckpasser, champion 2-year-old colt of 1965, as odds-on favorite in the $100,000 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah March 3.

Buckpasser came through his final test as expected Wednesday when he beat his stablemate, Stupendous, by a head in the $30,400 Everglades Stakes at the Flamingo distance of 1⅛ miles.

The big, bay son of Tom Fool out of Busanda by War Admiral ran the distance in a sparkling 1:47 4-5 while carrying 122 pounds and appeared in top shape for the richer event on closing day.

Stupendous, also trained by Eddie Neloy but owned by Wheatley Stable, may pass up the Flamingo for the $45,000-added Louisiana Derby at the same distance on March 12.

Buckpasser, with Willie Shoemaker riding him for the second time, came in and bumped Stupendous lightly during their torrid stretch battle but there was no objection. The entry paid $2.40.

Braulio Baeza, who made up most of the 115 pounds on Stupendous, said his colt was thrown off stride. When asked if he might have won if he hadn't been bumped, the Panamanian rider replied, "Who knows?"

Abe's Hope got up for third money and Blue Skyer was fourth, followed by Williamston Kid, Super Shovel, Rehabilitate and Yonder.

Otterbein Star Heads Ohio Squad

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Conference coaches made it official on the eve of the league tournament—Otterbein's Don Carlos is all-conference a third straight season.

Carlos was named unanimously Wednesday night to the OC first team all-star array also including two Akron players, Bill Turner and Don Williams, plus Wooster's Tim Jordan and Marietta's Dick Sowar.

Carlos, a junior, led the conference in regular season scoring (27.8 points per game), rebounding and field goal accuracy.

Turner and Williams also are juniors, Jordan and Sowar seniors.

Backcourt men dominate the All Ohio Conference second team, which due to a tie in voting by coaches of the 15-team circuit, has six members. Freshman John Dunlop of Kenyon made it with fellow guards Chick Campbell and Ron Hoyt of Mount Union, Ken Mackovic of Akron and Jim Warstler of Hiram. Heidelberg center John Kahle also was picked.

Honorable mention was accorded Jeff Buckalew, Ohio Wesleyan; Jim Craycraft and Gary Walters, Capital; Bill Gribble and Buddy Harris, Wooster; Bob (Major) Johnson, Denison; Jack Marks, Marietta; Terry Parmelee, Kenyon; Tim Pond, Otterbein, and Dick Scott, Baldwin-Wallace.

Maloney Seeks $60,000, Called Stubborn Holdout

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Jim Maloney was labeled a "stubborn holdout" as the Cincinnati Reds began spring training Thursday for pitchers and catchers.

Maloney was tagged a "stubborn holdout" by Reds' Assistant General Manager Phil Seghi.

Maloney is reportedly seeking a contract of around $60,000, twice the amount he was paid last year. It is believed the Reds are willing to pay him around $45,000.

In a telphone interview from his Fresno, Calif., home, Maloney said Wednesday "If the Reds can't pay me what I think I'm worth, then let them trade me to a club which will."

Maloney won 20 games and lost nine last year. He hurled two 10-inning no-hitters, losing one of them in the 11th.

The Reds still have two other top-name players unsigned. The are third baseman Deron Johnson, and relief artist Billy McCool. Seghi, however, said he doesn't anticipate any trouble in signing Johnson and McCool.

First baseman Tony Perez agreed to terms Wednesday night.

Moran Eyes Retirement

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Utility infielder Billy Moran, one of three players for the Cleveland Indians still unsigned, has been given permission by club President Gabe Paul to make a deal for himself with another team.

However, it is probable that Moran will retire instead.

He has told the Indians that he would retire unless traded to another team which would give him a chance to win a regular position.

He said that when he came to the Indians in mid-1964 from the Los Angeles Angels he was making $20,000, but that his salary had been cut by more than 25 per cent. He said he could see no chance of getting the money back unless he played regularly and that he had no hope of becoming a regular with the Indians.

Moran says the only team he would be willing to sign with would be the Atlanta Braves so he could live at home and continue his insurance business. He agreed, however, that his chances for that were remote.

The Indians' other unsigned players are pitcher Ralph Terry and rookie outfielder Jose Vidal.

WPIAL Sets Schedule In 2 Playoffs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Playoff games to break ties for the WPIAL Class A sectional championships begin Friday.

The first games at the Pitt Field House pit Aliquippa and Farrell for the Section 3 title and Fox Chapel and Springdale to break a three-way tie in Section 11, the WPIAL Basketball Committee announced Wednesday night.

The tourney will move to the Civic Arena March 7 for four quarter-final games, two semi-finals and the championship.

The first round tournament games in Class B begin March 4 at four different sites, then go to the Field House for the semi-finals and championship.

Cassius Owes Divorce Fees

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — If Cassius Clay doesn't pay the fees for his recent divorce, his former wife's attorney says he is ready to attach Clay's red Cadillac limousine and wardrobe.

"He won't need them if he's going to the Army anyway," the attorney, Lawrence Hoffman, said Wednesday.

Hoffman said the combined value would go a long way toward meeting the $22,500 fee the heavyweight champion was ordered to pay when he won a divorce from Sonji Clay.

Clay was to appear in court Wednesday to explain why he hasn't paid Hoffman's fee and the first $1,250 monthly alimony for Sonji. But the hearing was postponed to March 2 because one of Clay's attorneys was ill.

The champion, who did not appear for the hearing, sparred seven rounds in preparation for his title defense against Ernie Terrell March 29.

Clay said he would go to Chicago before the weekend to appear before the Illinois Boxing Commission and attend the Black Muslim convention.

"I've got to be there," Clay said.

Baylor Leads Lakers Past Cincinnati

BALTIMORE (AP) — Playmaker Wilt Chamberlain?

Maybe that's the new role the 7-foot-1 giant has assigned himself now that he's taken over the all-time scoring lead in the National Basketball Association.

Wilt must be concentrating on other aspects of his game. How else would a player of his physical stature and shooting ability be held to just 11 shots in 48 minutes?

Chamberlain, who has tried an average of 26 field goals a game, attempted only 11 Wednesday night — none in the second period — as he and the Philadelphia 76ers dropped a 119-115 decision to the Baltimore Bullets.

The New York Knickerbockers won the opener of the Civic Center doubleheader 100-98 as substitute Emmette Bryant scored the final six New York points.

In the only other game played, Elgin Baylor scored 14 of his 35 points in the final period and spearheaded the Los Angeles Lakers to a 140-133 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

For the second consecutive contest, Chamberlain was credited with 10 assists and played his usual great game off the boards with 31 rebounds. But it was his shooting which caused raised eyebrows.

"Everybody sags on him," Philadelphia Coach Dolph Schayes fumed after the game. "What else can he do?"

Schayes credited Baltimore's Bob Ferry, five inches shorter than Chamberlain, with playing well on defense but laid the greater part of the blame on the sagging defense.

Even so, Chamberlain tried his normally effective fallaway jumper only two or three times. Many times he passed out to Hal Greer, who hit 15 of 26 shots and led the 76ers with 37 points.

Wilt finished with 20 points, hitting 12 of 23 free throws.

The loss dropped Philadelphia two games behind the league-leading Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division. Baltimore, second in the Western Division, improved its playoff chances by moving three games ahead of both San Francisco and St. Louis.

The Lakers' victory over Cincinnati snapped a three-game losing streak and enabled the Western Division leaders to remain 4½ games ahead of Baltimore.

Late in the fourth period Cincinnati took the lead at 124-123 before Baylor and Jerry West teamed up to score eight straight points, putting the Lakers ahead to stay.

In the first half, the hot-shooting teams poured in 147 total points, Los Angeles leading 77-70. The pace was so hot in the first half that five Los Angeles players were in double figures, while Cincinnati had three with 10 points or more.

Leading scorer in the game was Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson with 39 while teammate Jerry Lucas had 30. Behind Bayor, West scored 29 and Rudy LaRusso sank 28.

3 Budgets Presented By Midland Authority

The Midland Municipal Authority adopted three budgets for 1966 during its meeting this week.

Granville Kester, consulting engineer from Michael Baker Jr., Inc., presented the budgets for the water, sewage and parking departments.

The water department budget is estimated at $270,000, with $203,000 earmarked for operating expenses.

Payments of note redemptions and debt services is totaled at $63,000, including $60,000 for principal and $3,000 for interest. After these payments, some $4,500 will remain for general maintenance.

Revenue from all sources of the sewage department provides an estimated $48,000.

Of this amount, according to Kester, $38,000 will be used for general operating expenses.

A proposed plan for constructing a garage and storage space at the sewage treatment plant is estimated to cost $12,000.

The parking department revenue is expected to be $8,000, with operating expenses estimated at $1,500. The parking department now owes the water department $6,500, which will be paid on account, Kester explained.

Kester also reported on the operations of the sewage treatment plants and suggested minor changes.

Charles P. Loll, auditor, presented his annual report, which was approved by the board.

The authority reviewed bids on the planned replacement of a water meter on a 12-inch pipeline that provides water for the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. from 8th St.

Submitting bids were Bigler, Inc., of Trafford, Pa., $8,332; D. L. Kollar of East McKeesport, Pa., $7,870; W. R. Davies of Pittsburgh, $7,995, and the Beaver Construction Co. of Youngstown, $8,500. The bids were turned over to the consulting engineer for tabulation.

Sub Goalie Has 32 Saves For Toronto

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Toronto's fourth-string goalie and New York's 27 - year - old rookie have the National Hockey League race jumbled again today.

The Maple Leafs, with regulars Terry Sawchuk and Johnny Bower sidelined by injuries, lost minor league replacement Gary Smith with a leg injury early in the first period of Wednesday night's game against first-place Chicago.

So, the Leafs had to call on 19-year-old Al Smith, a Junior A goalie, to fill in against Bobby Hull and Co., and all he did was make 32 saves and blank Hull as Toronto shaded the Black Hawks 3-2.

That gave third-place Detroit and runner-up Montreal an excellent opportunity to tighten the race but only the Canadiens succeeded.

Montreal needed a pair of third-period goals to slip by Boston 3-2 but Detroit ran into New York goalie Cesare Maniago's first NHL shutout and bowed to the Rangers 5-0.

That left the Canadiens and Black Hawks tied for the top spot with 65 points and Detroit still four points back in third place. Fourth-place Toronto is 10 points off the pace.

Maniago, getting his first real NHL shot at 27 after brief stints at Montreal and Toronto, was thrilled by the shutout, the first New York has managed in 14 months.

"It's my first in the NHL, and I'm going to save that puck," he smiled.

People In News

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam, goes to work these days with a splint on his left wrist.

A U.S. military spokesman said in Saigon that Westmoreland fell Tuesday while playing tennis with an aide.

The general broke a small bone in his wrist.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., is confident the Republicans won't gain more than 50 seats in the House of Representatives in the November elections.

In fact, Thompson's so confident that he not only accepted an offer to bet $100 with Sen. Everett M. Dirken, R-Ill., but gave the Senate GOP leader 2-1 odds.

Thompson was the first to take Dirksen's wager, which was announced at a news conference last week.

He sent a letter to Dirksen's office with $200 in cash enclosed. Others also tried to cover the bet, but they were too late.

OXFORD, England (AP) — Dr. Hugh MacDonald Sinclair, a lecturer at Oxford University, has been acquiring books for years, about 7,000 of them.

His devotion to the hobby has paid off handsomely.

Sinclair, 56, sold his library to the University of British Columbia—for $250,000.

To celebrate, he bought an Aston Martin car costing more than $14,000.

SEATTLE (AP) — University of Washington scientists plan to study monkeys to find out more about people.

The scientists say they will observe the monkeys through a one-way viewing glass.

Some of the things they hope to learn include the development of friendships, social status and ostracism.

This may help to explain human successes and failures in social relationships.

"We could not, nor would we wish to, control humans in this manner," said one of the scientists, Dr. Gordon Jensen, Wednesday.

There are accommodations for recreational vehicles and for camping tents at more than 2,500 national, state and privately owned parks in this country.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Ina B. Ward who passed away February 24, 1963.
When the evening shades are falling,
And we are all alone,
In our hearts there comes a longing,
If you could only come back home.
No one knows the silent heartache,
or the tears we shed,
when we are all alone,
For the one we loved so well.
We have only your memory,
Mother Dear,
Of the love and understanding you shared with us.
You are sadly missed by all who loved you.
Roy Ward family

Helen F. Oliver, Feb. 24, 1960
In sad but loving memory of our dear wife and mother, who passed away six years ago today.
You are not forgotten, dearest wife and mother,
nor will you ever be.
As long as life in memory lasts
we will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by, we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face
No one can fill your vacant place.
Loving husband, children and grandchildren

In Memory of David J. Hopper who passed away 3 years ago Feb. 24, 1963.
Time can not steal the treasures
We carry in our hearts
Nor ever dim the shining thoughts
The cherished past imparts
And memories of the one we loved
Still casts a gentle glow
To grace our days, and light our path
Wherever we may go.
Your memory is our keepsake
With that we'll never part
God has you in His keeping
We have you in our hearts

Sub Goalie Has 32 Saves For Toronto

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Toronto's fourth-string goalie and New York's 27 - year - old rookie have the National Hockey League race jumbled again today.

The Maple Leafs, with regulars Terry Sawchuk and Johnny Bower sidelined by injuries, lost minor league replacement Gary Smith with a leg injury early in the first period of Wednesday night's game against first-place Chicago.

So, the Leafs had to call on 19-year-old Al Smith, a Junior A goalie, to fill in against Bobby Hull and Co., and all he did was make 32 saves and blank Hull as Toronto shaded the Black Hawks 3-2.

That gave third-place Detroit and runner-up Montreal an excellent opportunity to tighten the race but only the Canadiens succeeded.

Montreal needed a pair of third-period goals to slip by Boston 3-2 but Detroit ran into New York goalie Cesare Maniago's first NHL shutout and bowed to the Rangers 5-0.

That left the Canadiens and Black Hawks tied for the top spot with 65 points and Detroit still four points back in third place. Fourth-place Toronto is 10 points off the pace.

Maniago, getting his first real NHL shot at 27 after brief stints at Montreal and Toronto, was thrilled by the shutout, the first New York has managed in 14 months.

"It's my first in the NHL, and I'm going to save that puck," he smiled.

People In News

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam, goes to work these days with a splint on his left wrist.

A U.S. military spokesman said in Saigon that Westmoreland fell Tuesday while playing tennis with an aide.

The general broke a small bone in his wrist.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., is confident the Republicans won't gain more than 50 seats in the House of Representatives in the November elections.

In fact, Thompson's so confident that he not only accepted an offer to bet $100 with Sen. Everett M. Dirken, R-Ill., but gave the Senate GOP leader 2-1 odds.

Thompson was the first to take Dirksen's wager, which was announced at a news conference last week.

He sent a letter to Dirksen's office with $200 in cash enclosed. Others also tried to cover the bet, but they were too late.

OXFORD, England (AP) — Dr. Hugh MacDonald Sinclair, a lecturer at Oxford Univerity, has been acquiring books for years, about 7,000 of them.

His devotion to the hobby has paid off handsomely.

Sinclair, 56, sold his library to the University of British Columbia—for $250,000.

To celebrate, he bought an Aston Martin car costing more than $14,000.

SEATTLE (AP) — University of Washington scientists plan to study monkeys to find out more about people.

The scientists say they will observe the monkeys through a one-way viewing glass.

Some of the things they hope to learn include the development of friendships, social status and ostracism.

This may help to explain human successes and failures in social relationships.

"We could not, nor would we wish to, control humans in this manner," said one of the scientists, Dr. Gordon Jensen, Wednesday.

There are accommodations for recreational vehicles and for camping tents at more than 2,500 national, state and privately owned parks in this country.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Ina B. Ward who passed away February 24, 1963.
When the evening shades are falling, And we are all alone, In our hearts there comes a longing, If you could only come back home. No one knows the silent heartache, or the tears we shed, when we are all alone. For the one we loved so well. We have only your memory, Mother Dear. Of the love and understanding you shared with us. You are sadly missed by all who loved you.
Roy Ward family

Helen F. Oliver, Feb. 24, 1960
In sad but loving memory of our dear wife and mother, who passed away six years ago today.
You are not forgotten, dearest wife and mother, nor will you ever be. As long as life in memory lasts, we will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by, we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face, No one can fill your vacant place.
Loving husband, children and grandchildren.

In Memory of David J. Hopper who passed away 3 years ago Feb. 24, 1963.
Time can not steal the treasures
We carry in our hearts.
Nor ever dim the shining thoughts
The cherished past imparts.
And memories of the one we loved
Still casts a gentle glow
To grace our days, and light our path.
Wherever we may go.
Your memory is our keepsake
With that we'll never part.
God has you in His keeping
We have you in our hearts.
Sadly missed by wife, son and family.

Junior Editors Quiz on LAPLANDERS

QUESTION: How can Laplanders get along, living so far north?

ANSWER: Lapland, althought it is spoken of as the place where the Lapps live, is actually not a separate country, but consists of certain northern parts of Russia, Finland, Sweden and Norway. Conditions there are very difficult. It is so far to the north that the winters are nine months long. The growing season is too short for regular plants. All that can survive are a few stunted trees and mosses and lichens.

In spite of these rugged conditions, the Lapps love their country and are a particularly cheerful and contented people. The survive by making the most of their assets—one of these being reindeer. These hardy animals manage to live by eating the lichens and mosses. Some roam wild, but many are herded by the people and are milked and raised as we do cattle. Reindeer give meat, milk and hides to the Lapps, and so are of great importance. There also are fisheries and mines producing valuable nickel and iron. Lapps work hard and are very healthy. But the greatest asset of these little people (a grown Lapp is only 5 feet high) is their happy temperament. Our artist symbolizes this with his picture of Lapp youngsters in the colorful costumes, having a wonderful time playing in the snow.

FOR YOU TO DO: Locate Lapland in a larger map, in an atlas. Look for the Arctic Circle, where the Arctic begins. You will be surprised how much further to the north the Lapps live—and will understand why it is so cold.
